Implementation Summary

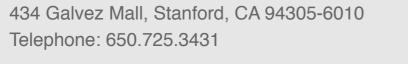

school, Carver Collegiate, in its early days of operation. Like Carver Collegiate, Carver Prep benefited throughout the study period from a strong CMO and a high performing Flagship to emulate. By the end of the study period, Carver Collegiate claimed to serve the most diverse student population in New Orleans, but they felt they have learned from participation in the CRM about how to invest in teachers and in students toward the end of school success.

School's Current Status Carver Collegiate and Carver Prep have merged into a single high school, GW

Carver High School. The new combined high school is still operated by Collegiate Academies. The Louisiana Department of Education rates the combined high school a "D" for the 2016-17 school year.
